Range Limiting option allows for these style configurations:

i3000 RCI Installation with Dyno and Load Link

The i3000 system on lattice cranes can use a combination of one load link and a line rider (dynamometer) or two line riders. The i3000 has a powerful processor and large onboard memory that allows for large load charts and extra options such as data logging and range limiting. The i3000 can also be configured as a Load Moment Indicator (LMI) on a lattice crane by using load links on the boom pendant lines.
